San Francisco, CA, Ithaca, NY, April 8, 2008 – WetStone Technologies, Inc., the leader in computer forensics and digital investigation technologies, has won the 2008 SC Magazine's Readers Trust Award program. Gargoyle Investigator™ Forensic Pro Edition was named Best Computer Forensics Solution at the exclusive, SC Magazine Awards Gala, held in conjunction with the annual RSA Conference.

"Even with the increased competition in 2008, our readers have clearly recognized Gargoyle Investigator™ Forensic Pro Edition as the best solution available to address their IT Security needs," stated SC Magazine Editor Illena Armstrong. "This award truly recognizes the leadership and success of WetStone in the field of IT Security."

With more than 600 entries submitted in thirty categories, the 2008 SC Magazine Awards proved to be the most competitive in the program's eleven year history. The SC Magazine Awards highlight and showcase the best solutions, services and professionals while recognizing achievement and technical excellence in the information security industry.

"This is a remarkable achievement and honor for WetStone. This award represents two consecutive years of achievement. Gargoyle is a truly robust tool that should be used by every IT Security investigator in the field and we see this product only getting better in years to come. We appreciate everyone who voted for us and we are honored to accept this award," stated Kelly Skinner, Director of Marketing for WetStone.
