Ithaca, NY, January 9, 2008 – WetStone Technologies Inc. the leader in digital investigation products, has been named a finalist for the 2008 SC Magazine Awards, for outstanding achievement in information technology (IT) security. Gargoyle Investigator™ Forensic Pro Edition was nominated in the Reader Trust Award Best Computer Forensics Solution category of the competition.

Gargoyle Investigator was among more than 600 entries submitted in more than 30 technology categories. Finalists are determined through voting conducted by the publication's readers. Readers vote for the solution they consider most effective at helping them address the problems for which it was designed. Winners of this year's awards will be announced at an exclusive event to be held in San Francisco April 8th, 2008.

"Finalists in this year's SC Magazine awards, including WetStone, represent a cross section of the security industry's best in class," said SC Magazine's Editor-in-Chief Illena Armstrong. "Our readers recognize that these companies are making today's businesses more secure."

"Being selected as a finalist is a great honor and is a prime example of WetStone's dedication to providing cutting-edge digital investigation technologies to equip our customers. We share this nomination with our customers as it is their feedback and requests for new features that drive our product innovations," said Kelly Skinner, WetStone's Director of Marketing.
